Brief description of the evaluation

On 1 October 2019, referrals from general practitioners (GPs) to allied health services changed for DVA clients. Under the treatment cycle arrangement, referrals from GPs to an allied health provider are valid for up to 12 sessions of treatment, or a year, whichever ends first. This 'treatment cycle' aims to improve the quality of healthcare for DVA clients.

The aim of this evaluation is to investigate the impacts of this change, both positive and negative, on DVA clients and health professionals. This evaluation is being completed at the request of the DVA, by Queensland University of Technology (QUT).

You are being invited to take part in this evaluation because you are an identified organisation that supports veterans, medical practitioners and/or allied health practitioners who have transitioned to DVA's treatment cycle arrangements for allied health referrals. Your opinions of the treatment cycle change and its impacts on the healthcare outcomes will provide valuable information in this evaluation.
